

CONGRESS AFTERMATH.

The Visiting Delegates Captured by Salt Lake Hospitality.

How Patterson and Powers Came to Arrange Their Joint Debate—Something About the Royal Teas.

It was noted all around that the reception extended to the delegates of the Trans-Mississippi congress on Friday was the most successful effort ever made in this city in the entertaining line.

There was no full in the programme and the guests were kept on the jump, so to speak, from the time they arrived, until their departure. Neither was there any saving of the expenses, the citizens having extended the invitation, proposed to carry the programme through if they had to go broke.

The visitors were "stuffed" at every turn. The Garfield train was provided with barrels of apples and 12-year-old whiskey that was just as sick as grease. Then there were wines and cigars and plenty of "hot" to fill out the social and political conversations of the delegates.

John Bechtel, who was in charge, kept up his grand system of interval irrigation until there was not a dry spot left.

No sooner had the delegates left the Garfield train than they were taken to the Press club, where they were again "warmed up" with generous "slugs" of sideboard comfort.

Sooner than they were taken to the Press club, where they were again "warmed up" with generous "slugs" of sideboard comfort.

The visitors were next turned over to the Salt Lake people, and in the face of a heavy rain were merry as crickets. This train also had a side-board well provisioned, and there was no cessation to the hospitable and congenial route of pleasure.

As the train halted up at the great pier the clouds parted and there was a burst of magnificent sunshine revealing to the visitors an enchanting scene. A rain-bow of unusual brilliancy appeared in the sky over this city, adding an unexpected charm to the enraptured vision.

To top off all, there was the banquet at the Knutsford, and the city's guests were again made merry over punch bowls of spiced apples. And there were speeches of every kind, and the city's guests were again made merry over punch bowls of spiced apples.

Sooner than they were taken to the Press club, where they were again "warmed up" with generous "slugs" of sideboard comfort.

ON WITH THE GOOD WORK.

Canvassing Committees Expect to Raise $200,000 This Week.

The Movement of Sheep.

Transportation by Rail Becoming Popular with Wool Growers.

News From the Stock Yards—Real Estate Transfers for the Past Week.

Bradstreet's Report—A Casualty Springs Company.

The Ogden congress monopolized the attention of a large number of our citizens the past week and interfered with the subscriptions for the Deep Creek road.

The active workers, however, rallied yesterday, and James H. Bacon, W. E. Hubbard and L. P. Kellogg had several consultations at which work for the present week was mapped out.

Many encouraging reports were received from the canvassing committees, and several large subscriptions have been promised.

J. R. Walker, said a gentleman last evening, is a very earnest champion of the new road, and stated that the money must be raised. Mr. Walker was one of the men who appreciated the necessity of a road to Deep Creek several years ago to the extent of subscribing $10,000 for that enterprise.

Matthew Cullen is another of our wealthy citizens who is taking a deep interest in the road, and he proposes to contribute material aid of the character that counts.

It was also learned that W. H. Dodge of Peix city, one of the owners of 1200 Murray, is to come to the rescue of the new road with a handsome subscription and a number of wealthy mine owners in the enterprise propose to help out the enterprise in the same way.

The latest large subscription announced was made by the Utah mine people and they are credited with having signed their intention of contributing the sum of $10,000.

So far, the committees have left the big haul alone, confining their efforts to working the small change.

The real estate men are getting in shape to make a demand on their customers who reside outside the city and their plan of action is to make a big haul.

All the committees, it is expected, will get down to work in dead earnest during the present week, and pile up the subscriptions to the tune of $200,000. Ten men are mentioned who will subscribe $10,000 each, and even by rail as yet to twenty-five who are expected to come down with $5,000 each.

THE MOVEMENT OF SHEEP.

Transportation by Rail Growing in Favor Among Wool Growers.

The train of sheep consisting of eighteen cars, of the movement to Wasatch, was forwarded over the Union Pacific yesterday.

This is the first season that this method has been employed in transferring from the winter to the summer ranges, and some owners have looked upon the handling of sheep and even by rail as a doubtful one. However, on Friday, James Cheesey shipped his first train of four cars, and one head out of a train of fourteen cars, the trip from the yards here to the unloading point at Wasatch occupying but five hours.

This method is such an improvement upon the old method, which was by stage, that it is very much larger than was at first contemplated, and the stock yards folks and railroads are being taxed to handle the business, which is being pushed after by E. A. De Rios.

He thinks the movement will become a prominent one and that the sheep will be shipped back to the winter range in the fall, and driven, as it is the only solution of the annoyance occasioned by driving the flocks through and around the city twice a year, and to wool growers, it comes at an opportune time.

Stock Yard News.

Five cars of cattle came up from the Sanpete branch of the Rio Grande yesterday for the market here.

The market last week was good for all classes of desirable stock and beef cows. Steers brought $3.50, medium 1,100 pound steers $3.25, choice feeders $3.10, to medium feeders $2.75, $2.50. One bunch of cowboys, weighing 1,000, at $2.50, while several other bunches sold at $2.75. Beef cows, choice, brought $3, $2.50, $2.25. The market promises to hold strong.

There is a great demand for good mutton sheep. Much stock can be sold at almost any price asked.

There are several buyers here of good 1,000-pound steers for putting in good, and such cattle can be promptly sold.

Business Failures.

Following is Bradstreet's monthly report for Utah:

During the month of April there were eleven failures in Utah. The aggregate liabilities were $7,428, the assets $18,283, or about 65% per cent. of liabilities.

During the corresponding month of last year there were six, with liabilities of $14,300 and assets of $7,200, or about 50% per cent. of liabilities. Two of the houses failed in the month of April, and the aggregate liabilities were $14,300 and assets of $7,200, or about 50% per cent. of liabilities.

JOHN WANAMAKER.

The Ex-Postmaster General Arrives in Salt Lake.

A Trip to Garfield Beach—The Visitor Addresses a Large Audience at the Presbyterian Church.

The Presbyterian church was crowded to overflowing last night. Every seat was occupied, chairs were placed in the aisles and standing room was at a premium.

John Wanamaker, ex-postmaster-general and the greatest Sunday school superintendent in the world was on hand to give an address on Sunday school work.

Mr. Wanamaker has a benevolent and attractive appearance. Before he had spoken a dozen words the audience was thoroughly in sympathy and in touch with the speaker.

He said twenty years ago he used to be much exercised and troubled about how to make a success. He now had dropped all that and simply talked.

His talk from beginning to end was so that in earnest that the personality of the speaker was lost and the whole attention of the audience fixed on the subject. His Christianity is of a cheerful type and he believes in making the Sunday school attractive by providing instructive and interesting teaching by putting the Bible forward as the great magnet. He does not believe in bribing scholars by giving them ice cream feasts, oyster suppers, etc.

The Sunday school should be conducted on business principles, and in a business like manner. It was a deplorable fact that so few men attended the churches. Women were better than men as a rule, and in a great measure to them was attributed the success of the church.

On his way back to Philadelphia, he stopped at the church and a better conference. All the legislation at Washington and at the state capitals could not keep men from drinking, gambling, etc., but true religion is the only remedy.

In his Sunday school at Philadelphia there were from 2,000 to 2,500 pupils in regular attendance. He gave a history of the Sunday school from its very small beginnings to the present time when it was one of the greatest powers for good in the world.

At the conclusion of the address an after meeting was held for the purpose of conferring with teachers and giving suggestions and advice which are of great value to the teachers. Mr. Wanamaker answered.

The distinguished visitor is on a tour of the country for pleasure and recreation. He has been through to the coast and is on his way back to Philadelphia. He stops at all important towns and raises his voice in encouragement to the Christian workers. Sunday school teachers particularly, whenever opportunity offers.

There are twelve in the party, including Mrs. Wanamaker. They arrived yesterday morning from New York, via Garfield Beach, the Salt Lake and other points of interest and are highly pleased with the city and its surroundings. Mr. Wanamaker said the country is no longer the west, but is rapidly becoming the old west; it is being settled, and in refinement and culture is not far behind the east.

The party leave for the east on Monday evening, stopping off at Leadville, Denver, Kansas City and Chicago, and are to arrive in Philadelphia May 18, 1893, as against $9,000,000 for April, 1892.

Real Estate Sales for the Week.

The past week was not a very good one for real estate men, the weather being unfavorable and much of the time of the agents being taken up with the Deep Creek railroad canvass and other public matters. The showing made was an excellent one, however, the number of transfers recorded being seventy-three, while the total consideration was $109,356.

The Clearing House.

Yesterday's clearings were $184,745, as compared with $349,134 for the same day last year. The clearings for the week were $1,357,496, as compared with $2,233,038 for the same week of last year. The clearings for the month of April were $205,035, as against $9,000,000 for April, 1892.

MR. WRIGHT SPEAKS.

Of the Remarkable Results Attained in Only a Few Days' Treatment With Dr. Mansfield and De Monco.

Mr. Wright lives at Coalville, Utah, and in the employ of the Home Coal company, he came to Salt Lake City a few days ago to see the skill of Dr. Mansfield and De Monco. As to whether the trial has proved to be successful, the following powerful statement will decide.

On War Eagle mountain, the Poorman, which yielded $5,000,000 in bullion prior to 1875, and was then tied up in litigation for a dozen of years on account of failures in San Francisco, is now coming to the front again with a promise of repeating its former prodigiousness. Near the Poorman, the Bath has recently shown up one of the richest shoots of ore ever seen in Idaho, six sacks of ore taken from the mine are valued at not less than $50 per pound. The shoot of ore from which these rich specimens were taken is 140 feet in length, will average over two feet in width, was cut in a tunnel 300 feet below the surface, and it is thought, will extend to the surface. The ore will average over $200 per ton, and its discovery makes a mine which was purchased a year ago for $5,000 a million dollar proposition.

A big enterprise is now growing into shape proposing to run a cross-cut tunnel under the mountain, and tapping the veins of the War Eagle mountain, tapping the ledges at a depth of 1,400 feet. This string of mines comprises a series of old mines, near the Poorman, Elmore, Oro Fino and Mahogany, which it is claimed produced more than $5,000,000 between 1885 and 1893, but have stood idle for years, and it is thought they could not be unwieldy by pumping.

Mr. Lamb had with him a small handful of cuttings from the mines which are in this country, and he said that the country is stacked off in claims for several miles and that perhaps 200 people are in there now mining for gems. Lapidary pronounce the opals grown in the superior in hardness and equal in brilliancy to the finest Hungarian, and it is predicted that mining for them will be a paying and permanent industry.
